THE LATEST NEWS.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS OF THE 46TH CONGRESS.

Introduction of a Bill to Change Certain Sections of the Revised Statutes—Other Business.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Senator Bayard, from the Committee on Judiciary, reported adversely on the bill to facilitate the negotiation bills of lading and for other commercial instruments, and to punish fraud therein. Indefinitely postponed.

The Senate proceeded to consider the calendar.

Senator Williams introduced a bill repealing the statute which prohibits farmers and planters from selling leaf tobacco directly at retail to consumers without special tax. Referred.

The bill granting a pension to Jesse F. Phares, a scout was laid aside until Mr. Withers who wishes to speak on it shall be present.

The bill to amend sections 2,262 and 2,301 Revised Statutes, so as to permit the affidavits required by those sections in connection with the pre-emption and commuted Homestead entries to be made before the county clerks instead of land registers or receivers, was passed.

The bill authorizing a retired list of the non-commissioned army officers of thirty years' service, was opposed by Senator Saulsbury, as it would be adding to a pension list already large enough.

Senator Maxey advocated the bill as a measure of justice to the deserving officers.

Pending the debate the morning hour expired, and the Senate resumed consideration of the bill ratifying an agreement with the Ute Indians.

Senator Morgan opposed the bill, as it would take $4,000,000 out of the Treasury, and it was not well conceived. It violated the act of 1871, which provided that no Indian nation or tribes shall be recognized on an independent nation, tribe or power with whom the United States may contract by treaty. The agreement with the Utes was simply a treaty and plainly violated the law. The Supreme Court has frequently held that treaties with Indians can be abrogated at the pleasure of the government when the public requires it. Congress can dispose of the Utes as it sees fit but not by a treaty. He stated that the treaty of 1868 with the Utes contains provisions for the entry of lands by individuals for their private use. Quite as effectual as the provisions in this agreement, and he thought it better to pass a bill requiring the Utes to avail themselves of that right.

This would accomplish the desired object without violation of the statutes. Besides the legal objections, he pointed out many defects in the provisions of the bill, and intimated that he would probably move it to recommit to the Indian committee.

Senator Dawes opposed the bill. He thought it impossible for adult Indians to change their habits and adopt civilized customs. He would rather have the four millions that this bill would cost devoted to the education of Indian children in our language, ideas and customs. This would gradually solve the Indian question.

After an executive session, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

Under the call of States the following were introduced and referred:

By Mr. Gibson, of Louisiana, relative to the appointment and pay of the Mississippi River commissioners.

Also to entitle State banks to circulate notes on the same conditions as National banks; provided, they comply with the provisions of the National bank law relative thereto.

By Mr. King, of Louisiana, by amending section twenty two of the Texas Pacific act, at the conclusion of the call of the States, Mr. Manning, of Mississippi, rose to a question of personal privilege. He sent to the clerks desk and had an article in the Washington Post of Saturday last, relative to the action of Mr Springer, of Illinois, chairman of the Committee on Elections in the Donnelly-Washburn, contested election case.

Mr. Townshend, of Illinois, moved to suspend the rules and discharge the committee of Ways and Means from the further consideration of the bill placing salt, printing type, printing paper and materials used in making printing paper on the free list and put it on its passage. The motion was defeated; yeas, 112; nays, 80; not necessary for two thirds in the affirmative.

The House then adjourned.

REMARKABLE STATEMENT.

NEW YORK, April 5.—A New Orleans special says the following statement of the lawlessness existing in North Louisiana is made by the officers of the steamboat Era, No. 10, just arrived here on March 27th. While the boat was putting out freight at Redmouth landing, on Beouf river, a man named J. J. Adams, with a crowd of ruffians, captured the boat and attacked Captain Hamilton, using him pretty roughly. The boat had to cut her lines and quietly backed out from the landing. Adams and his party followed the boat some distance and ordered the Captain to bring her to shore, which was not done. Adams then began to fire on the boat and put seven balls in the pilot house. The boat had a number of passengers, including men, women and children, but fortunately no one was hurt.

The officers of Era No. 10 do not think it safe for them to return to that point. Adams was implicated in the assassination of Judge Crawford and District Attorney Harris several years ago, but could not be convicted.

An Atlanta, Ga., special says: Reports have reached Atlanta of a severe storm in North Georgia. There were cyclones in several localities, which blew down fences and damaged crops badly. Several railroad lines were washed away, and several houses blown down, and two or three deaths are reported. However, the mails will not be delayed.

LONDON, April 4.—The London Observer of this morning says: "We understand that there will be no decision as to whether the government shall resign at ouce or await an adverse vote of parliament until the exact number of the Liberal majority is ascertained. After the result of the polling on Friday became known a special messenger was sent to Baden Baden with dispatches for the Queen. We have reason to believe that Mr. Gladstone disapproved of the arrangement suggested in various quarters that he accepts the subordinate office in the new administration. He still adheres to his intention of not resuming the office but will cordially support the recognized Liberal leaders, the Earl of Granville and the Marquis of Hartington.

WAR ABROAD.

NEW YORK, April 4.—The following dispatch, dated Lima, March 27th, via Panama April 3d, has been received by Charge De Affairs of Peru from the Secretary of Foreign Affairs, Dr. Don Pedro Jasecalderon: "The Corvett Union forced the blockade of Arica, fighting seven hours with two Chilian iron clads and a transport. Vallaviceni, and has succeeded in her errand despite the Chilian blockading vessels.

What the Republicans are Banking on.

New York Sun.

The men who run the Republican party are counting confidently this year, as they have counted in every Presidential year since 1860, on Democratic folly and blundering to give them the election. That is to-day, as it has been in the past, the sheet anchor of their hope. How astonished they will be if the Democracy for once disappoint them!

As a reliable and cheap remedy for the various affections of the throat and lungs, we heartily recommend Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price 25 cents.

LIFE FOR LIFE.

A MULATTO MURDERER'S AWFUL DEATH.

The Rope Cutting the Head from the Body Like a Knife—A White Man and a Negro Hung.

Philadelphia Times.

WASHINGTON, April 2.

James Madison Wyatt Stone, a mulatto, about 36 years of age, was hanged in the jail yard in this city this afternoon, for the murder of his wife. The crime was brutal, and the execution was terrible in all its details. The murder was committed on the night of the 5th of October, 1878. Alberta Stone, the wife of the murderer, not having lived pleasantly with her husband, left him, and with her two children and her sister, Lavinia Pitcher, took up her abode in a house in a northeastern section of the city. Stone made repeated visits to the house, and on each occasion quarreled with his wife and sister-in-law. He seemed to be a victim of jealousy, and accused the sister of taking his wife away from him. On the evening of the murder he went to the house about nine o'clock. The two children were asleep up stairs, and Mrs. Stone was engaged in household duties in the same room, while Lavinia Pitcher was in the front room down stairs. Stone forced open the door. A few words were spoken, when he attacked Lavinia savagely with an open razor, chased her screaming into the yard at the back of the house, cornered her and deliberately cut her throat. Mrs. Stone, hearing the shrieks of her sister, rushed down stairs to save her, if possible. The enraged man turned upon his wife and hacked her throat with the razor, making a terrible and ghastly wound. Stone then ran from the house. The two women ran after him, but fell before reaching the sidewalk. The fearful cries of the women had by this time aroused the neighbors and they crowded to the spot where the women were lying in great pools of their own blood. Three colored men who saw Stone leave the house gave chase, and after pursuing him over a circuitous route captured him as he was attempting to climb over a fence in the neigborhood. Mrs. Stone died the following afternoon, but her sister recovered and was the principal witness against him at his trial.

Stone was awakened at 6 o'clock this morning, and spent the morning with the ministers. A force of fifty mounted policemen was placed on duty about the jail, with instructions to prevent any assemblages of people in the neighborhood. A large detail of patrolmen was also on duty in and about the building. The number of admissions to the building was limited. In consequence of the directions of the law officers of the government the requirements of the statutes were complied with strictly, and only those entitled by law to be present were allowed to enter the building. The members of the press were admitted with the understanding that they should serve on the jury to make a return to the court as required by law. At 12:50 o'clock the prisoner was brought into the main hall with his hands tied behind him, and General Crocker, the warden, read the death sentence, to which he paid attention, and at the close of the reading nodded his head and said "yes sir." From this hall General Crocker, with Captain Coleman, led the way to the scaffold. Rev. Dr. Rankin, of the Congregational Church, Rev. Mr. Grimkie, of the Presbyterian Church, and Rev. William Gibbons, of the Baptist Church, came next, then the prisoner, dressed, with a guard on either side, and two guards bringing up the rear, the two last named stopping at the foot of the steps.

The gallows was located in an enclosed space at the northeast corner of the jail building, and was twenty feet high, with a platform ten feet square, and a drop of about five feet. The rope, to which a trigger was attached, was concealed, after leaving the gallows, in a square box running into the kitchen, and it was from this point that the trap was sprung. When Stone had ascended the gallows he spoke a few words in a low tone to Dr. Rankin, who said to the hundred or so spectators: "He wishes me to say he dies at peace with the world, in full hope of meeting his Saviour." Stone as he faced about on the scaffold was observed to be neatly dressed in a black broadcloth suit, with spotless linen, turnover collar and black necktie. Prayer was offered and a portion of scriptures read, during which he listened with close attention, bowing his head reverently during prayer. He then bade good-bye to those about him, the noose and black cap were adjusted and the spring touched, when he shot like a flash through the trap, falling heavily to the ground. There was a general cry of horror and intense excitement prevailed. Those nearest to the scaffold then began to realize what had happened. His head had been cut from his body as cleanly as if done with an axe, and rolled two or three feet from the body. Blood squirted high on the uprights of the scaffold. Of course death was instantaneous. The rope was evidently amply stout enough to bear Stone, who weighed about 180 pounds, and the drop not too long, but he had a small neck for so large a body, and it is supposed this was the cause of the decapitation. The head was picked up by one of the physicians present and the face appeared placid and the lips moved as if about to say something.

After the body had been placed on a bier the head was arranged on it as neatly as possible and wrs subsequently placed in the coffin. Rev. William Gibbons read the burial services, in the presence of about thirty persons other than the officials and the police, after which the undertaker placed the remains in a wagon and took them to the vault at the Young Men's Burial Ground.

NEWSPAPER VIEWS.

Wilmington Review: The water in the Cape Fear again threatens to become distressingly low, and unless there are plentiful rains in the interior within the next week it will soon be down to low water mark. At latest reports, dated yesterday morning, there was only seven feet of water on the shoal at Fayetteville and it was still falling.——Nancy Young, col., aged 80 years, was burned so badly last Friday by her dress catching fire while she was boiling clothes that she died next day. She lived four miles from this city.——Mr. Philemon Taylor, of Fayetteville, the father of our fellowtownsmen, Mr. J. H. Taylor, we regret to learn departed this life on yesterday, the 2nd inst., after a lingering illness in the town of Fayetteville. Mr. Taylor, we hear, was a consistent member of the Baptist Church and had been a communicant in that church for a long number of years. His death will be regretted by the entire community in which he lived, where he was highly respected by all who knew him.

J. Moore, of this city, performed an operation on a child of Mr. T. F. Walker, of Steel Creek, which was afflicted with a hairlip. The upper lip had to be severed from the gums to which it had become attached, and the operation involved difficulties which are not usually met with in such cases.——The Catholic church in this city is to be dedicated as soon as Rev. Mark S. Gross returns from Baltimore, where he has gone to receive the confirmation as Bishop of North Carolina, the papal nuncio to that effect being en route Bishop Lynch is also expected to be in attendance to assist in the dedication.

All the log huts near and some of the framed buildings are white-washed with this dirt. One frame house was plastered with it more than forty years ago, and it is still nice and white. The wonder is that some American or English capitalist does not visit the place with the view of erecting a porcelain factory.

Concert and Festival.

Correspondence of the News.

WILSON, April 3.—The concert and festival for the benefit of the Baptist Church in Wilson was largely attended and liberally patronized last night.

The music under the management of Miss Emma Hahr, the music teacher in the Wilson Female Seminary, was participated in by the young ladies and gentlemen of our town, irrespective of denominational predilection, and was as fine as is generally heard anywhere. The selections were fine and the rendition splendid.

The thanks of the Baptists are due to them for the substantial benefits; and the community generally are indebted for a rich, refined, tasteful treat.

The ladies displayed much taste in providing a bountiful banquet after the concert which was enjoyed and which added considerably to the receipts of the evening. Total receipts about $75.

New Orleans Women.

The New Orleans woman proper is Gallic American, or rather an American Gaul. She may never have been out of her country, or even out of the State; but for all that she is an alien to the republic, in the sense that she has little knowledge of it and less care for it and its affairs. If creole, or of creole descent or affinity, she reads the newspapers, has French habits and opinions, is essentially French in mind and manner. She talks English, though she thinks in French; she is an inhabitant of the United States, but a citizen of Louisiana, especially of its metropolis; most of her grand outings being to adjacent parishes. Once in a while she may go to St. Louis or Charleston, or New York, but if she does it is a memorable event, and she regards it as a Chicagoan, Bostonian or New Yorker would regard the circumnavigation of the globe, a journey to the interior of Afghanistan, or the heart of Africa. Should the New Orleans woman be young, especially should she be unmarried, she may be very graceful, though rarely slender in figure, for plumpness, roundness comes very early with her. She is usually a brunette. Her manners are, as a rule, superior to her person. It is marvelous what she can achieve with a bit of lace, half a yard of ribbon, or a few flowers. The New Orleans woman is not very substantially educated, but such education as she has she can put to the best advantage. She is very fond of pleasure, or gayety of every sort, and she sees more of these as a wife than as a girl, for she is very strictly and conventionally reared by her parents, and augments her area of freedom with her matrimonial experiences.—Picayune.

HOW CAMPAIGN FUNDS ARE RAISED.

Senator Wallace's Committee Reports A Form of Assessment Which Hayes Approved.

Philadelphia Times.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Mr. Wallace, in behalf of the Senate select committee on alleged frauds in the late elections, has submitted a special report on political assessments. The act of August 15, 1876, prohibits executive officers or employes of the government not confirmable by the Senate from requesting, giving to or receiving from any other employe money for political purposes. The order of President Hayes of June 22, 1877, announced that "no assessment for political purposes upon officers or subordinates will be allowed." The report says that the way to evade the statute was for an employe to give his money to some one not in the employ of the government. The letter and spirit of the statute have been violated and the meaning of the President's order disobeyed.

The report says that the late Secretary of the Senate, Mr. Gorham, was at the same time secretary of the Republican Congressional committee. As such he sent circulars to government employes urging the necessity of contributions for the campaign of 1878, and saying: "There will be no objection in any official quarter to such voluntary contribution." This clause, the report says, was proved to have been submitted to President Hayes, who approved the same, and the reference here made was to him and his action. A copy of this circular was sent to every person in or out of the United States holding an office with a salary exceeding $1,000. The amount asked for was usually one per cent. on the salary. The report continues:

All the postmasters, revenue and custom agents, clerks and employes of the United States of every character were called upon or notified of this request for money to aid in the advancement of the Republican cause. The whole sum received by the Republican committee in the summer and fall of 1878 for these purposes from Federal officials was $93,000, and the whole sum received from all other sources was $13,000 making the campaign fund of Republican national committee amount to $106,000. Persons were sent into nearly every executive department of the United States, with the knowledge of the head thereof, to obtain money from the clerks and others there employed, and the books in which the subscriptions were made were headed in several instances by the chief of the department before presentation to the subordinates. When there seemed to be a neglect of the first circular, or those agreeing to give were slow in payment, other circulars were sent to them. This mode of obtaining money for political purposes was also adopted and carried out in 1876, when two per centum upon the amount of the salary of the official or subordinate was demanded by the Republican committee. In addition to this sum of $106,000, the Republican State committees in some of the States were authorized to collect and did collect moneys for political purposes from the Federal officials within those State. The amount of this your committee could not learn. It was charged that money was collected from ladies in government employ, and from those receiving less than $1,000 a year, and such seems to be the fact; but it was denied that any such authority was given to any collector of money by the officers of the Republican organization. Authority was given to these collectors of money for political purposes to enter the departments in Washington during business hours and solicit money from the employes, and the subscription books prepared by the committee were presented to the subordinate, who subscribed therein and placed his amount opposite his name.

The report says that political manipulation of employes of the United States was shown by the testimony of Harry Cobaugh and others.

His official position is Captain of the Watch in the Treasury, and in the fall of 1878 he furnished to the Republican State Committee of Pennsylvania a list of the names and residences of the clerks in that department who were voters there. The Republican State Committee then furnished to him railroad tickets from Washington to the place of residence of the clerk and a return ticket, and if resident in Philadelphia a receipt for the payment of his taxes, free of charge. The headquarters of the person furnishing these tickets was kept in the room of Mr. Cobaugh, in the Treasury Department, and employes of other departments were supplied with tickets and tax receipts therefrom. One hundred and three male clerks or employes went from the Interior and Post Office Departments to Pennsylvania, in November, 1878, without formal leave, for the purpose of voting, and free transportation was furnished to all of them. The employes, clerks and subordinates in the executive departments from the States of New York, Ohio, Indiana and New Jersey were also sent home to vote in the same manner

The committee thinks the statue of 1876 a dead letter, and reports a bill in its place. The bill prohibits any official or employe of the United States from contributing to any committee or person for any political purpose or paying any assessment or income or lending or advancing any money with the understanding that the same shall be applied for political purposes. Heads of departments are prohibited from collected, money for political purposes. The punishment on conviction of violating this law is imprisonment not exceeding six months, and, in the discretion of the court, a fine not exceeding $5,000, and the person convicted shall be forever thereafter disqualified from holding any office of honor, profit or trust under the United States. Any officer of the United States who shall violate any provision of this act shall, in addition to such imprisonment and fine, be deemed and taken to have vacated the office by him held.

Why She Knew.

The other day there was a suit in Justice alley between two Wayne county farmers regarding the ownership of fourteen unmarked grain bags. Each side was prepared to stoutly swear that the bags were his, and each had witnesses to back his testimony. The complainant swore to buying the bags at a certain store on a certain time, and his hired man swore to handling them as they were taken from the wagon. The defendant swore that he purchased them at a certain place on a certain time, and his wife was called to the stand to tell what she knew about it. She was a large, fleshy woman, and very much bewildered.

"Land save me! but I was never in such a crowd before, and I feel as if I should faint?" she gasped as she took the witness stand.

"Never mind fainting, Mrs. X," said the lawyer. "Tell the jury what you know about those bags."

"Oh! land! but I know all about 'em! We bought 'em on the 10th of November."

"How are you sure it was the 10th?"

"Sakes alive! but I know it was, for I boxed Melissa's ears that morning for leaving a spoon in the dish-water, and she was married on the 15th."

"Who asked for the bags at the store?"

"Oh! stars and garters! but I did! I remember it as plain as day."

"What did the clerk say?"

"Oh! stars! but he said, 'certainly,' and he went and got 'em."

"What else do you remember?"

"Oh, lands! but I wanted a calico dress!"

"And you didn't get it?"

"Bless granny! I didn't, and we jawed all the way home."

"And now why are you positive that these are the bags?"

"Oh! dear, oh! but while we were jawing I threw 'em out into the road. Some one lend me a fan, for I'm most dead!"

"Never mind being most dead, Mrs. X. What else about the bags."

"My husband boxed my ears for throwing 'em out. Oh! I didn't mean to tell that!"

"He did, eh? Well, what else?"

"Oh! dear! but when we got home I kicked the hired man?"

"Kicked the hired man, eh? Well, how can you be positive that these are the bags?"

"Great snakes! aren't you done yet! Yes, I am positive."

"How can you be?"

"I don't want to tell."

"But you must."

"Well, if I must I must, though I'm sure I shall faint away. That night I boxed Melissa again."

"Yes."

"And husband boxed me."

"Yes."

"And we both boxed the hired man, and we were all so mad we sot up all night in our cheers and have had chillblains and catarrh ever since! Do you suppose we'd have made fools of ourselves over fourteen grain bags belonging to a man living three miles away!"

That settled the case with the jury, and the verdict was in favor of the defendant.

Correspondence of the News.

COMMERCIAL HOTEL, N. Y., April 1, 1880.—Your special correspondent has now been in the great city of New York for some days buying his spring millinery, stopping at the above house, which is a part of the St. Nicholas, but kept on the European plan, that is, pay 50 cents to one dollar a day for a room and eat where you please, and this plan I like, both in point of economy, and also time saved, as you can step into a a restaurant most anywhere, and eat as much or as little as you please and pay in like proposition. This house is nicely furnished and new, very central, with a kind landlord, which makes one feel quite comfortable and at home. Ladies traveling alone, here find, comfort and safety, and quiet, and you can get a first rate dinner for 25 cents. I should advise southerners, going to N. Y., to try it. Joseph P. Gulley, of your city was there. While in the city we took occasion to visit the whale, yes a veritable whale, measuring 65 feet long, its tail being from tip to tip twelve feet and its mouth being large enough to take in several common size cows at a time, and now since seeing said whale and its mouth, my friends do not any more deny or disbelieve but what the whale did swaller Joner.

This whale was caught by fishermen on the coast of Maine, was raised up on pontoon boats and towed to New York, where it has been on exhibition over a week, the whalers taking in from twelve hundred to seventeen hundred dollars a day, at 25 cents a day, to see it. The proprietor positively refused to yield to the many requests to open his canvass last Sabbath and exhibit it; said he would not so violate the Sabbath, and it is estimated that about three thousand dollars slipped his fingers in so refusing. Well, that's a snug little sum to come between a man and his conscience.

Oh the beautiful, beautiful fine growing wheat all along the line from Greensboro to New York—it seems to me the finest I ever saw at this season of the year. More ploughing had been done on the line of the Railroad than I ever noticed at this season of the year.

There are many, very many things of interest I might mention of this great city, but not this time. I find, however, the merchants in New York have far exceeded the sales of a year ago, in the same length of time.

A Distinguished Visitor.

Wilmington Review.

Professor Sargent, of Harvard University, at Cambridge, Mass., arrived in this city a few days since and, since his arrival, has devoted his time to examining the forests of the neighborhood to become acquainted with our trees, plants and shubbery, and also gathering statistics in relation to our trade in timber, lumber and naval stores for the use of the Census Department. Professor Sargent is an accomplished botanist, is now in the employ of the Census Bureau and has been assigned to his present duty by Superintendent Walker, of the Census Department. His visits Burgaw, the county seat of Pender county, to-day, with the same object in view. It is expected that before his labors shall have concluded, he will visit and inspect forests of the entire country.

Green Court.

Correspondence of the News.

SNOW HILL, April 2, 1880.—Greene county Superior Court is in session here this week, Judge Avery presiding; and by the by, is very popular with our people, and is making a good impression. The bar has been well represented this week, there being twenty-one lawyers in attendance. There were about seventy-five cases on the criminal docket. but most of them were finally disposed of. There were sentenced to the penitentiary Frank Dixon, for stealing a horse, five years; Peter Adams, for larceny, three years; Thomas Peterson, larceny, one year. The criminal docket was concluded on Tuesday. On the civil docket there were fifty or sixty cases, of which about thirty were finally disposed of, and the remainder carried over.

A Matrimonial Hit.

Detroit Free Press.

The demand for Boston girls down in Maine is greater than the supply. A farmer of that region married one lately, who, much to the disgust of her neighbors, spent her honeymoon in studying the botany and geology of her husband's farm. First thing he knew she presented him with a $40,000 gold mine. He calls "That Wife of Mine."

Profit $1.200.

"To sum it up, six long years of bedridden sickness, costing $200 per year, total $1.200—all of this expense was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife. She has done her own housework every year since, without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it, for their benefit.

WAR TAXES

TAXES WE ARE PAYING IN TIMES OF PEACE.

The People of the United States are to Submit to this Outrageous Imposition.

We publish the following from the Detroit Free Press, showing the heavy taxes we are now paying:

If there were now an army of a million of men under arms, in support of which the people of the United States had to pay a tax upon their stoves, the blankets of their beds, the carpets on their floors, the clothes on their backs, the lumber of their houses, and the very salt upon their food, they would rise in a rebellion at the polls which would carry a majority of members into Congress pledged to hear no petition, listen to no bill, waste time in no speech, daily with no especial attorneys or advocates of the semonopolies, until every vestige and trace of them had been expunged from the statute book.

If any party or party leader should have the boldness to rise and propose to reinstate the direct and internal taxes of the war, restore the rate of interest on the bonds, increase the expenses of the government by three millions a day, he would need the courage of a Bismarck or the brazonry of a Pig-Iron Kelley.

Yet to this outrageous imposition the people of the United States are, in a certain degree, meekly submitting, and it is as hard to drag the affliction, into discussion and debate, as it is to persuade some poor wretch in agony with the toothache to submit to having the decayed offender taken out.

The people of the United States are, with scarcely a protest, submitting to pay the same taxes on the staple articles which they eat, wear and use, and allowing protected manufacturers to take from their pockets the same amount of profits, that they did in the darkest period of the war.

The excuse then given, based upon the depreciation of the currency and the disadvantage under which manufacturers labored in consequence, has no validity now. Inasmuch as the gold value of imports would have been as relatively high in greenbacks as the gold value of native products, the excuse may be deemed as of very doubtful soundness; but it was overpowering, and as such accepted in want of a better.

But the absurdity of continuing that tax when those conditions no longer exist; the absurdity of retaining war taxes in a time of peace, and imposing the same tribute for the manufacturers' benefit when paper is at par, as when it stood at 180 above par, is qualified only by the fact that the absurdity is overwhelmed in the extortion which it implies. Astonishing as is the fact of an intelligent people's submitting to such a grievance and omitting to remedy it, it is exceeded by the more astonishing fact that they scarcely seem to be aware of it.

Other questions have been shrewdly thrust forward by the advocates of this system which was born in times of peace. It is for their interest to keep the public mind aflame with questions that make men hot and angry; because in heat and anger they forget or ignore the price they are paying for the privilege of indulging in these passions. A tax of $7 a ton on pig iron and over a cent a pound on most manufacturers of iron, the same as in 1864; of thirty-five per cent. on wool, the same as in 1864; of fifty per cent. on blankets, an increase over the rate of 1864; of the same or an increased tax on carpets and hosiery and scores of other articles in daily use—all these matters seem dull and commonplace as compared with the fierce conflicts and struggles and warm and excited phrases which have formed so long the chief interest of political discussion.

Yet it may well be doubted if growth in civilization and morals does not depend quite as much upon the wise economies of a nation as upon its discussion and treatment of questions of law and government and institutions certainly as upon its conflicts for power and territory. Hume says that the making of broadcloth in England had a greater influence upon its destiny than the wars of the Roses. However this may be, the continuation of war taxes during long years of peace may be, is not unsafe to say, retards the nation's progress more than the original cost of the war.

Suspension of the Manufacture of Nails.

PITTSBURGH, March 31.—An adjourned meeting of the Western Nail Association was held to-day, all the mills west of the Alleghanies being represented. A discussion on the state of the trade ensued, and at the close a resolution was unanimously adopted suspending the nail mills two weeks longer from Monday next. It is proposed to take the business entirely out of the hands of speculators, and confine it solely to the producers. If at the expiration of the the two weeks referred to no change is apparent, a further suspension will be ordered. It is believed, however, that there will not be any necessity for a prolongation of the suspension beyond April 19.

Death of Hugh Jones, of Warren

Free Lance.

We regret to learn of the death of this gentleman which occurred at his residence in Warren county on the 20th of March.

Mr. Jones was for many years sheriff of Warren county, and was universally esteemed for his many excellent traits of character. He belonged to a type of men which is fast disappearing from our midst. High toned, generous, honorable and fearless under all circumstances, he was among the most liberal and unselfish of men. No needy or distressed person was turned from his door, for his charities were only circumscribed by his means. Mr. Jones, we learn, was in his 69th year. He was never married.

The Republican Problem.

Chicago Tribune, Rep.

In New York, as in Chicago, the anti-thirdtermers are burning the bridges behind them, and rendering retreat impossible. They have begun by acting within the Republican party while yet there is time for their efforts to accomplish the object for which they have organized, and it rests with the Republican party itself to determine whether they shall remain Republican or be driven to support the Democratic nominee as against General Grant.

DAILY NEWS

TUESDAY, APRIL 6, 1880.

GEO. C JORDAN, Editor and Propr

RUMOR says Mr. Tilden has purchased the New York Tribune. Another inroad on the barrels, you know.

GLADSTONE is much elated at the Liberal victory in England whilst Beaconsfield is correspondingly depressed.

THE Democratic Executive Committee of the Third Congressional District will meet in Wilmington, Wednesday, 21st of April.

SINCE iron, cotton and other articles are about declining in price why should the paper monopolist keep that article up to its present figures?

THE Republican press says there is more "dirty linnen" in the present Congress than ever before. They surely have a convenient memory. Have they so soon forgotten Dewese the former Republican Congressman from this District and others we can name?

GEN. MAHONE is evidently casting about for sufficient excuses to jump the fence. He is now making speeches declaring his intention to fight funderism either State or National, to the death. We hope old Virginia won't allow herself to be Mahoned into the Republican ranks.

THE Directors of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad have requested the President to call a meeting of the stockholders, though the time of meeting has not yet been announced. The purpose of the call is to consider the proposition of Mr. W. J. Best to lease the road.

WE learn from passengers on yesterday that there was a most terrific rain and hail storm on the line of the Atlantic & Charlotte Air-Line on Saturday night, causing serious damages to that road, the water causing several "washouts" and one train came near being wrecked in one of those "washouts," over fifty feet deep. We suppose that with their accustomed energy the road will be open in a day or so.

OLD Boreas has been on another one of his "benders." On Friday last a cyclone passed over Ottawa, Kansas, leaving death and destruction in its track. The northwest has been the scene of muco suffering from tornadoes of late years. Our State is and has been peculiarly blessed in not being visited by these fearfully destructive waves. These cyclones are usually the concomitant of a prarie country.

DAME rumor says Col. R. R. Bridgers, President of the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad, put in a bid at the approaching stockholders' meeting of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad. It is said that Mr. Bridgers' offer will be more liberal and acceptable than that of Mr. W. J. Best. Just the thought of so many railroad moves make our head grow dizzy. The whole country, from the St. Lawrence to the Rio Grande, is affected with railroad "booms."

The Chicago Times is we learn about to introdnce a new feature in journalism. A dispatch says: It is making preparation to vary the size of its sheet every day, according to the amount of news it has to publish. If 48 columns of space is needed it will have a 48 column sheet, and if it has 90 columns of news and other essential matter, a 90 column paper will appear. By this means the Times expects to avoid the necessity of printing triple or quadruple sheets when additional space is needed.

IT is time the Democratic Executive Committees of the soveral counties were taking steps in organizing. We are going to have one of the hottest campaigns ever experienced in the annals of North Carolina. Let no man be a member of the committees except live, active, positive men. Leave no stone unturned that is in the way of success. More depends upon the composition of these committees than anything else. There is no pay attached to the position of a committeeman, only the honor and duty we owe to ourselves and children. A consciousness of assisting in the preservation of our institutions as handed down to us by our forefathers, from the withering, blighting radical rule.

THE Virginia Midland Railroad, which is run in the interest of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, and the A. T. and Ohio Railroad Company will, when completed, connect the inland cities of Danville and Charlotte. The Charlotte Observer says in this regard:

"With this object in view, and upon the invitation of Mr. John W. Garrett, President of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, and Mr. J. S. Barbour, receiver of the Virginia Midland Railroad Company, Col. Wm. R. Myers, President of the Atlantic, Tennessee and Ohio Railroad Company, last week, visited Washington city, for the purpose of a general conference.

Upon the assurances of these gentlemen, representing as they did the interests of their respective companies, and Colonel Myers representing the interests of the stockholders of the Atlantic, Tennessee and Ohio Railroad, looking to a speedy completion of the proposed road between Charlotte and Danville. It is a part of the contract that President Garrett, at the proper time, will furnish all the money necessary to liquidate the judgment debt and all other floating obligations then due by the Atlantic, Tennesse and Ohio Railroad Company.

ELIZABETH CITY AND NORFOLK RAILROAD AND CONNECTIONS.

This enterprise which has been hanging fire so long is, we earnestly hope, on the sure road to completion. Bro. Creecy has labored hard, long and faithfully for the consummation of this road. Eastern Carolina has been too long neglected by our legislators, their whole attention having been given of late years almost solely to the voting of appropriations for building railroads in other parts of the State. We clip the following interesting editorial from the E. City Economist, of the 30th ultimo:

"We think we can assure our friends who are interested in the railroad from this place to Norfolk harbor, that they may now cherish a confident faith that the road will be built, and speedily. We learn from official sources that at a meeting of the executive directory of the road, held at the office of Frank Vaughan, Esq., on Friday evening, the contract to build the road, held by Dr. Underwood, was formally renounced, and a new contract entered into with John S. King, of New York. The terms of this new contract provide for the immediate commencement of work on the road, and its entire completion from Elizabeth City to Norfolk harbor on or before January 1st, 1881. As an earnest of the bona fide intention of Mr. King, we learn that he has already paid in cash over $15,000 for release of the old contract and all obligations against the road.

"At the meeting, on Friday evening, changes were made in the directory. The following persons constitute the new board, namely: Henry J. Cullen, Jr., of New York; W. G. Dominic, of New York; J. N. Whiting, of New York; Frank Vaughan, of Elizabeth City; D. C. Lippincott, of Elizabeth City; J. H. Hall, of Elizabeth City; P. John, of Elizabeth City. Of which boards the following officers were selected, namely: Frank Vaughan, President; W. G. Dominic, Vice-President and Treasurer; J. H. Hall, Secretary.

"It is understood that the work of leveling and grading the road bed will commence to-day (Tuesday), from this point. The survey and location of the route, will, in the meantime, be carried on until the engineers reach the other end, which, we are informed by Arthur King, one of the corps, will probably be during next week.

"We congratulate our many friends throughout the Albemarle section upon the auspicious signs of a new departure in material prosperity: for the road will not stop here, but will extend along the coast, reaching, in a few years, our friends in Hertford, Edenton, Plymouth, Newberne, Wilmington and intermediate places. Now let faith abound; for patience has had her perfect work. The road will be built, speedily by outside capitalists who ask of us nothing but the aid of friendly co-operation."

Ex-Presidents for U. S. Senators.

New York Independent.

What will be done with these Ex-Presidents? It has occurred to us that it would not be a bad idea to amend the Constitution so as to provide that every Ex-President shall ipso facto become a member of the United States Senate for life, with a salary of twelve thousand dollars a year, and having a voice and a vote in all the proceedings of that body like any other Senator. Such a Senatorship would continue our ex-Presidents in the public service as the representatives of the whole people of the United States, and not of particular States, or localities. It should be a national Senatorship in its representative character. The people, in electing their President, would at the same time elect a national Senator for life in the event that he should survive his Presidential term, or terms, if twice selected. He would become a member of the Senate, as the constitutional sequel of having been President and not being re-elected. We think the system would work well for the country, and at the same time do a just and proper thing in respect to those who have been incumbents in the Presidential office.

This most excellent remedy is becoming more popular with our people every day. It is one of the few medicines that improves on acquaintance—the more one knows of it, the more its virtues are appreciated. Everybody who has given it a fair trial, speak well of it. Our druggists sell large quantities of it. People are not afraid to use a medicine that they know to be efficient for their ailments, and at the same time harmless in its nature. Read what is so aptly said of it, in another column of this paper. Truth is mighty and will prevail. feb27 tf

Awful Death of a Grave Robber.

Gordon Truesdale, an amatuer prenologist, living near South Bend Indiana, recently met with a horrible death resulting from his practice of robbing graves for the purpose of adding to his collection of skulls. He violated the grave of Sarah Platts, a young lady who died of consumption, and carried off the head. The grave was found to be disturbed, and he was suspected of the crime, but never openly charged with it. Early in the present month Truesdale was attacked with what appeared to be erysipelas, but it soon became evident that poison from a dead body that he had handled had been communicated to his system through a raw spot on the inside of his nose. His head swelled up to twice the ordinary size, and became a mass of corruption His eyes decayed, and he became sightless long before death came to his release. A coffin had been procured, the festering remains were placed in it and the lid screwed on, but before a wagon could be procured the lid was burst off by the swelling of the body. It was then strapped on, but again flew off, and in that condition was quickly covered from sight. When Truesdale was aware that he could not live he confessed to robbing the grave of Miss Platts, and, disclosing where he had secreted the skull, it was restored to her relatives.

Cuticura

REMEDISE

Have Achieved the most noted success of any Medicines of Modern Times.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter have never doubted the specific properties of Cuticura, Cuticura Resolvent and Cuticura Soap, for the speedy, permanent, and economical cure of Humors of the Blood, Skin and Scalp. They are however, astonished at their universal success; for it was to be expected that in the hands of some they would fail solely from spasmodic or ignorant use of them.

They are enabled to say without fear of contradiction that no remedies ever achieved in the short space of one year the number of wonderful cures performed by the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

SALT RAHUM,

Covering the Body for Ten Years. Permanently Cured.

LAW OFFICE OF CHAS. HOUGHTON,
17 Congress Street, Boston, Feb 28, 1878.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—I feel it a duty to inform you, and through you all who are interested to know the fact, that a most disagreeable and obstinate case Salt Rheum or Eczema, which has been under my personal observation from its first appearance to the present time,—about ten (10) years,—covering the greater portion of the patient's body, and limbs with its peculiar irritating and itching scab, and to which all the known methods of treating such disease had been applied without benefit, has completely disappeared, leaving a clean and healthy skin, under a few days of profuse application of CUTICURA.

I can and do heartily advise all similarly afflicted to try the remedy which has been so effectual in this case.

Very truly yours,
CHAS. HOUGHTON.

Liver Complaint.

And Dyspepsia Treated by the Resolvent, Gains 5 1-2 pounds on One Bottle.

GENTLEMEN,—I have had Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, with running sores on the side of my neck, for ten years. Doctors did no good. I have been spending for eight years and it did me no good. Everything I ate distressed me. I got reduced from 1.9 to 132 pounds. At last I tried the RESOLVENT and it helped me right off, and on one bottle I gained five and one-half pounds. It is doing the business, and I am going for it strong.

Yours truly,
JOHN H. ROY
414 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill., Nov. 15, 1878.

NOTE.—Cuticura is admirable assisted in cases of extreme physical weakness, or when the virus of Scrofula is known to lurk in the system by the internal use of the Cuticura Resolvent, without doubt the most powerful blood purifier and liver stimulant in the world.

in a 3 story brick building, 28x40 feet. Two Wheat Mills and one Corn Mill, new and complete with a capacity for grinding 100 bushels of wheat and 100 bushels of corn a day, and can compete in quality of flour with any mills in the State. The mills have had a very large local patronage during the past year. They are driven by a 60 HORSE POWER STEAM ENGINE, improved, of the make of Talbott & Sons, Richmond

Attached to the engine is also a 60 Saw COTTON GIN and power press, at a safe distance (about 100 feet) in a different lot. The engine has a brick smoke-stack 60 feet high, making the danger from fire the least possible and the rate of insurance very low.

E. F. SMITH, O. S.

A Good Man.

It was our pleasure on Sunday to attend the morning services at the Salisbury Street Baptist Church. The venerable Dr. Teasedale, of Tennessee, who is said to be one of the most successful revivalists in the country, occupied the pulpit. He soon convinced us that he was a man of brains. His style is impressive and affecting. He will no doubt prove a most effective co-worker with Dr. Skinner, the respected Pastor, who is now holding a series of meetings in his church. We wish Dr. Teasedale many long years of usefulness in the cause of Christ.

Pinafore.

Hayes' Juvenile Opera Company, under the management of W. T. Powell, exhibited to a crowded house at Tucker Hall last night. The acting was just perfect. The audience was uproarious in their applause. The Juveniles carried the hearts and heels of the audience with every act. It would be invidious for us to particularize where all the little folks did so well. They will exhibit at Goldsboro tonight, in Wilmington on the 7th and 8th, and in Fayetteville on the 9th and 10th. We bespoak for them large and appreciative audiences wherever they go.

Fire.

Yesterday about the hour of 4 p. m. the quiet of our city was disturbed by the alarm of fire. Hurrying out into the street to discover the location, we discovered that Mr. John A. Bragassa's bake shop, on Salisbury street, was the victim of the fire king. Our efficient Fire Department was promptly on the ground, using every effort to extinguish the fast burning building. After awhile the flames were got under control and the building partially saved. The loss did not amount to a great deal.

County Commissioners.

This body met yesterday, all the members present.

Leman Lynch, F. Edwards and W.B. Bynum were appointed inspectors of the Holly Springs municipal election.

The petition of W. F. Askew for ten work-house prisoners was referred to the Superintendent of the Poor and Work Houses.

A. L. Lynam was appointed constable of New Light township, in place of A. B. Lassiter, resigned.

C. L. Harris was reappointed to keep rafts from Crabtree bridge, on the Tarboro road.

The proposition of the Marvin Safe and Scale Co. to furnish safe for records was declined, it being the opinion of the Board that the money required for the safe could be better expended in building a fire-proof room or towards erecting a new court-house.

B. B. Buffaloe was relieved of paying $14.10, county money destroyed in the burning of his residence, a few weeks since.

David Gill, H. Cas. Ray and G. B. Allen were appointed a committee to let out the repairing of the bridge at Richland creek, near Gill's.

The active members of Rescue Steam Fre Company, No. 1, were exempted from the payment of poll tax.

There was considerable school business transacted; relief and exemption from payment of poll tax, for various reasons, was granted; the outside poor received material attention, and a large batch of accounts was ordered to be paid.

The Board accepted an invitation from the Superintendent of the Centennial Graded School to visit that institution, and named 9 o'clock this morning as the time for their visit.

Adjourned to meet at half past 10 o'clock to-day.

The News from Maine.

Hop Bitters, which are advertised in our columns, are a sure cure for ague, billiousness and kidney complaints. Those who use them they cannot be too highly recommended. Those afflicted should give them a fair trial, and will become thereby enthusiastic in the praise of their curative qualities.—Portland Ad.

Sly Doctors.

It is a fact that many of the "segulao" doctors who will not recommend Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure for the diseases which it so effectually removes, yet use it "on the sly" in their practice. They must soon adopt it openly as the standard remedy.

Nothing Else to Eat.

The wife of a skilled artisan named Schmid, of Samara, Russia, was brought to bed of a child while her husband, who had spent all his money for many previous weeks in liquor, was away from home on a drunken frolic. Two days after her confinement Schmid staggered in and began to shout, with horrible threats and curses, for his dinner. There having been neither food no money in the house since he had last left it, the unfortunate woman had had no nourishment for herself or her babe since its birth, and the latter had died of exhaustion a few minutes before its father made his appearance. To Schmid's brutal menaces his miserable wife made no answer. She rose from her pallet, wan and emaciated, crept across the room to the dresser, took thence a large dish, which she carried back to the bed, and, placing her baby's corpse upon the dish, sit it down on the table before her husband, with the simple but awful words: "There is nothing else to eat in the house!" Schmid sat gazing with a glassy stare at his dead child for some time. Presently a neighbor came in and spoke to him, but he uttered no word and made no sign. Upon closer examination he was found to have entirely lost his reason, and he was conveyed to a madhouse, where he still remains, a hopeless lunatic.

None receive so much benefit, and none are so profoundly grateul and show such an interest in recommending Hop Bitters as women. It is the only remedy peculiarly adapted to the many ills the sex is almost universally subject to. Chills and fever, indigestion or deranged liver. constant or periodical sick headaches, weakness in the back or kidneys, pain in the shoulders and different parts of the body, a feeling of lassitude and despondency, are all ready removed by these Bitters.

W. H. & R. S. Tucker.

The great success we are meeting with in our sales of dress goods, white goods, house keeping goods, men's wear, notions, ribbons, trimmings, embroideries, laces, curtain nets, hosiery, gloves, underwear, shoes, carpets, oil-clothes, mattings &c., &c., has increase our stocks in these departments.

Counting upon a very good increase in our sales, and having faith in the rise of prices, which were at the lowest point reached during a long period of depression, we began as early as June last making contracts for domestic goods, which gives us the advantage of owning and offering the greater part of these goods at figures much lower than their present values.

We are prepared to sell the wholesale and retail trade at such prices as will make it to their interest to give us the greater part of their patronage.

W. H. & R. S. Tucker.

The Florence Nightingale of the Nursery.

The following is an extract from a letter written to the German Reformed Messenger, at Chambersburg, Penn:—

A BENEFACTRESS.

Just open the door for her, and Mrs. Winslow will prove the American Nightingale of the Nursery. Of this we are so sure, that we will teach our "Susy" to say "a blessing on Mrs. Winslow" for helping her to survive and escape the griping, colicking, and teething siege. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP rallies the child from pain, and cures dysentery and diarrhœa. It softens the gums, reduces inflammation, cures wind colic, and carries the infant safely through the teething period. It performs precisely what it professes to perform, every part of it—nothing less. We have never seen Mrs. Winslow—know her only through the preparation of her "Soothing Syrup for Children Teething." If we had the power we would make her, as she is, a physical saviour to the infant race. Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle.

Myrtle Lawn.

A new lot just received at L. Branson's.

What a Pity

that the otherwise beautiful girl should have had such bad teeth. And all because she did not use SOZODONT. It costs so little to buy it considering the good it does, and its benefits stretch out into her future life. Poor girl!

Nothing Left Out!

His stock is always complete, has just received a lot of Porcelain Sauce Pans, Masfin Kettles, and in fact you will always find a full stock of House Furnishing Goods on hand. Garden Tools, full line of Hardware, Builders' Material, Iron, Steel and Nails. J. C. Brewster, Holleman Building, Raleigh, N. C.
